Banana Festival President Delegate To Rio de Janiero

The efforts being made by the International Banana Festival to create goodwill and understanding with people in Central and South America will be recognized this Fall before the world's most distinguished members of the Latin-American diplomatic corps.

Mrs. Paul Westpheling, president of the Banana Festival, Saturday was named a United States delegate to the Second Inter-American Partners of the Alliance Conference to be held in Rio de Janiero, Brazil from September 19-22.

J. K. Smith, general manager of the Kentucky Rural Electric Co., who first conceived the program of Kentucky self-help for Ecuador by donating a large quantity of used electrical equipment, was also named as a delegate. Mr. Smith was one of two Americans honored by Secretary of State Dean Rusk for his efforts of cooperation with Ecuador.

The Fulton editor and co-publisher was appointed at a meeting in Louisville Saturday morning, held in connection with the Kentucky Partners for the Alliance. Mrs. Westpheling was recently named state-wide co-chairman of the Kentucky Partners, serving with Robert Hensley, prominent and well-known Kentuckian, as chairman. Governor Edward T. Breathitt is honorary state chairman.

James H. Boren, director of the Partners for the Alliance in the State Department, has asked each delegate to prepare a summary of the organizational and project activities of the state-wide organization, which the Festival president revealed will contain the great strides being made by the Banana Festival toward personal diplomacy on a people-to-people basis.

Currently, the Banana Festival association is staging a collection of recreational equipment to establish a playground in Quevedo, Ecuador, with whom the State of Kentucky is aligned. Quevedo, a city of upwards of 50,000, is in the remote area of northwest Ecuador where the residents are impoverished and the children roam the streets and the hinterlands for lack of playground facilities.

Following the meeting in Rio de Janiero, the Festival official has been invited to Ecuador to observe the efforts being made there in connection with the Alliance program.

In accepting the appointment, the Festival official said: "Of course, I am personally honored at the appointment, but more than that, I feel that being able to contact these important

Mrs. Cavender Makes Donation For Quevedo Plan

"It's true I live in Memphis," Mrs. Grace Cavender wrote to friends today, "but when anyone asks me where I'm from I sing out loud . . . Fulton, Ky."

"I'm proud of my home-town," Mrs. Cavender continued, "and that's why I'm sending five dollars to help with the recreational equipment project for the young people in Quevedo, Ecuador from the young people of the twin cities."

The check has been turned over to Larry Ader, Southern Bell telephone manager and Lindell Greer, manager of the P. N. Hirsch Store who are co-chairmen of the drive to establish a playground for the impoverished children of the community in northern Ecuador.

Both chairmen urge other citizens to make contributions either in cash or used equipment for the program undertaken by the Banana Festival as their commitment to the Kentucky Partners for the Alliance.

Bell's Modern Phone System Now Year Old

One year ago, June 20, 1965, the most modern communications system in the world came to the Fulton area. Southern Bell's million dollar project for the Fulton exchanges has revolutionized communications in our city.

Larry Ader, local Southern Bell manager, stated today that the people of Fulton are using their phones more than ever before. Fultonians are calling at the clip of an average of 700,000 completed calls per month. The reason for this increase, Ader believes, is due to the ease of calling now, compared to the slowness of the manual method used in the past.

Ader expressed pleasure in the acceptance of Touch-Tone calling. "This acceptance of the Touch-Tone phone shows that the people of Fulton do want the best things that life has to offer."

The convenience of touch-tone calling provides the fastest and best methods of communications available in the world today," Ader added.

Shutterbug Is Working Again!

After falling apart at the seams while in operation at a meeting of the Woman's Club in the early Spring, our camera is back from the factory and working pretty good, it seems. Or perhaps the News photographer has learned a little more about its operation, but whatever the reason, we are happy to publish these good pictures this week.

The photographic mission Tuesday afternoon was to see just how Fultonians spend these lovely summer days. Here's the story on candid camera.

If the camera continues to work as well as it has on its first mission, there will be many, many such pictures in the News, meaning that we'll soon run out of filing space. So-o-o-o-o we've got to keep moving. While the newspaper copy is good, the original is better. So if you'll help with our filing space we'll let you have the photo for the price it cost us . . . 80 cents each and it's a good, clear 5 x 7 photograph, good for framing and remembering. (More Photos on inside pages)

The official goodwill ambassador of Fulton, Edmond Khouie was at his popular pop-corn stand on Lake Street with his usual pleasant greetings and delicious wares. Here he is shown offering J. D. Hales a taste of "Edmond's famous popcorn."

The photographer snapped handsome Paul Sean Heltsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heltsley playing on the lawn at the home of his grandmother Mrs. Nannie Austin. Sean is enjoying his vehicles . . . which reminds the photographer that if you have any kind of such vehicles around your premises won't you give them to some less fortunate youngster in Ecuador. Larry Ader, chairman of the recreational equipment drive for Ecuador will be happy to pick it up.

I Want To Help The Partners For The Alliance

I have some used recreational equipment that is in good condition and I want you to come by and pick it up at:

Larry Cavender On Commercial In Bonanza Show

Larry Cavender, a former Fultonian who will be playing golf at the Ken-Tenn Tournament in Fulton this week-end will have the exciting experience of viewing himself on nation-wide TV Sunday evening.

Larry, son of Mrs. Grace Cavender, who now resides in Memphis, is assistant director and cameraman for WMCT-TV in Memphis, a position he has held for the past five years. He will appear in a commercial with Mrs. Hunter Lowe, Jr. of Memphis during the nationally televised Bonanza Show on Sunday night on NBC.

Larry recently produced a remote control program of the Martin-Greene spectacular last week. Larry will tell you, if you ask, that he was a little less than confident during the show, but it was acclaimed a success anyhow, a friend advised the News on Wednesday.

MONEY FOR EDUCATION!

More than 65 cents of each revenue dollar in Kentucky's general fund goes to education. Fifty-two per cent of all money available for elementary and secondary education is State money.

Parkway Re-routing Near Water Valley Is Explained

Kentucky Highway Commissioner Henry Ward, after a thorough study of the revised routing of the proposed Purchase Parkway in the Water Valley area, today revealed his findings. The study made by Mr. Ward stemmed from a petition from 75 persons in the Water Valley area who charged that several farms "would be cut up," as a result of revised routing, which property-owners say is a revision of the original proposal made by the consulting engineers.

Mr. Ward's memorandum from J. T. Anderson, assistant to the State Highway Engineer was sent to the Fulton News and specifically clarifies the issues raised by the property owners.

Here is the letter from Mr. Ward and the memorandum.

Dear Paul:

In April, the Fulton News carried a story which raised questions about the location of the Jackson

Cordially yours,

MEMORANDUM TO:
Mr. Henry Ward
Commissioner of Highways

FROM:

J. T. Anderson
Assistant to State Highway Engineer

SUBJECT:

Graves County
Line Revision on Jackson
Purchase Parkway

Reference is made to your memorandum of April 11, 1966, along with a copy of a clipping from The Fulton News and your request for a report on this whole matter.

Attached hereto is a copy of my report to you on this subject dated March 2, 1966, which covers background leading up to a decision to investigate a revised line across the Bayou De Chien bottoms.

Since that time the consultant has surveyed the revised line and his continued studies have indicated factors favoring the revisor as follows:

1. Comparative cost estimates indicate that the construction cost of the revised line will be approximately $122,000 less than the original line. Also the revised line is 323 ft. shorter than the original line.
2. Contrary to claims that more farms will be "cut-up" and that many homes and farm buildings would have to be removed, the comparative right of way appraisals indicate that right of way for the revised line will cost approximately $18,600 less than the original line.
3. A review by representatives of our Materials Division indicates that the revised line lies on more stable ground than the original line.

Construction work in the area of the original line would be expensive and time consuming because of the surface water and poor drainage conditions. On the revised line, surface water was noted in only a few areas and surface ditches could be used to drain the soil in these areas. This would render a firm foundation for the embankment construction on the revised line should proceed more rapidly than on the original line.

As indicated in my report to you of March 2, 1966, the decision to study a revised line across Bayou De Chien was based solely on sound engineering principles and no individual or group of individuals had any knowledge whatsoever of our actions at the time and consequently could not have had any influence on any decision. Anyone who thinks otherwise has been badly misinformed and is 100 percent wrong.

Randall King Named SF Legion President

Randall King was elected commander of South Fulton American Legion Post last Friday night at a meeting held in the post home.

Other officers elected were: Otis Pannell, vice commander; James Adams, 2nd vice commander; Tommy Mann, adjutant; Rev. Paul Cates, chaplain; Brooks Oliver, service officer; Sam Reed, sergeant-at-arms; Bob McKnight, Elton Wilson and James Adams, house committee.

'Fats' Formally Announces Campaign For Re-election

Robert A. "Fats" Everett, acclaimed by his associates and constituents as one of the hardest working and most effective congressmen in Washington is today formally announcing his candidacy for re-election to the position he has held for the past eight years.

Everett of Union City, has been waging a vigorous campaign in the Eighth Congressional District in Tennessee and is expected to win by a very comfortable margin even though his district has been expanded to include a portion of Shelby County.

Congential, friendly and efficient "Fats," as he is fondly called by all who know him, is never too busy to visit with a constituent either in his Washington or Union City offices.

Congressman Everett's formal announcement follows:

I certainly want to express my deep appreciation to all the citizens of the Eighth Congressional District for the opportunity you have given me to serve as your Representative in the past eight years.

I am now fifth in seniority on the Veterans' Affairs Committee of the House. We have passed much legislation to help veterans, their widows, and their children.

We were able to pass the nursing care legislation which will be of much help to our aging veterans. I served as Chairman of the Subcommittee that held hearings, drafted this legislation, and steered it through the House.

As Chairman of the Subcommittee on Insurance, we succeeded

Area Officers Attend Training Conference In Franklin County

The sound of pistol shots echoed across the rolling land of Franklin County-thus, the second course began in the Kentucky State Police Quarterly Training Conference.

This phase of the training is on the use of firearms and is under the guidance of Sgt. Shelby Riggs, State Police Firearms Instructor.

The group taking advantage of this training today was from the western-most tip of the Commonwealth.

This training is twofold, in addition to providing basic training in police methods, the Conference is expected to bring about a closer partnership between the State Police and law enforcement agencies all over the state.

Kentucky State Police Director Colonel James E. Bassett emphasized that the Conference will not duplicate or conflict with other police training programs in this area.

"It is our hope," he has said, "that this Training Conference will stimulate wider participation and a stronger demand for police training."

In September the Conference Course will teach the art of self-defense, with fingerprint technique being taught in December.

Fulton, South Fulton's Expanding Shopping Areas In Jeopardy As Highway Routings Adher To Speed

The longer we live, and the more we seem to learn, the less we seem to understand the thinking that goes on among the "experts" in planning projects designed for progress.

Perhaps the most confusion in our "live - and - learn" experience comes from trying to understand the relationship between levying taxes to build new and modern highways, while at the same time often destroying the sources from which these taxes are levied.

Currently both Fulton and South Fulton are engaged in constant and concerted programs to maintain and expand the present levels of our business community in the face of fierce and healthy competition from the communities all around us.

The competitive spirit keeps our communities alert and progressive, with the satisfying results that we get more shoppers and more tourists and give better service, which certainly produces more tax revenues at all levels from sales to property taxes.

It is in the routing of these modern and convenient highways that we are thrown into panic and confusion.

"The emphasis is on speed and effective traffic movement," is the stock answer from a highway planner when asked to consider the economic losses when a major highway is routed away from the tax revenue-producing areas of a community.

This concept is understandable from the standpoint of a highway planner, although it is a ridiculous contradiction of the views expressed by planning and zoning experts.

Here is what a document, prepared recently under a Federal grant from Urban Renewal Administration, had to say about Fulton's Central Business District:

"The Fulton Central Business District is presently faced with many of the same problems with which central business districts throughout the country are faced. These problems include traffic congestion, a lack of convenient and properly spaced parking facilities, deteriorating buildings, vacant second floors, and, in many cases, decreasing retail sales.

"Many of these problems exist due to apathy on the part of the property owners themselves; other problems are due to a rapidly changing environment in which innovations in retail merchandising have outpaced the downtown merchants. The increasing use of the automobile has fostered the need for more and more off-street parking facilities.

"Shopping centers have sprung up in close proximity to the central business district, thereby competing for its customers. The result has been in many instances a loss of tax revenue for the entire city, as well as a loss of revenue to the individual merchants."

No defense is needed for the accuracy of these statements, for they are indeed, accurate.

But, then, when a progressive-minded merchant makes every effort to adhere to the advice of the "experts" it is discouraging, even maddening, to have an "expert" in another field say, in effect, "Keep moving where the traffic's moving."

The battle of the experts is similar to paraphrasing an old proverb about out of the frying pan into the fire... "out of the traffic congestion into shopper oblivion," caused by highways that speed shoppers away from our doors to other communities in other states.

In South Fulton, a fast-growing shopping center is made more enticing to local shoppers and tourists by modern motels, good restaurants and service stations and two giant supermarkets, whose mammoth parking facilities lure bargain-hunting grocery buyers to the area, greatly increasing the revenue from sales and gasoline taxes.

In only a few years the tourist industry has sky-rocketed in the Highlands section of Fulton, and in South Fulton, too, because gift shops, motels, restaurants and service stations have labored to satisfy the wishes and the needs of the touring public. In addition the area has afforded the sites for the construction of large manufacturing, retail and wholesale buildings that might still be in cramped quarters were it not for the economic growth brought about by modern business incentives.

Now come the highway planners, intent on speed and effective traffic movement, who say, "Let's do it all over again."

We are in no position, either by experience or knowledge, to argue with the philosophy of moving traffic effectively and with speed. We are living in a hurried-up world, that bids to get more hurried as the years move on. Moreover, if establishing the highways away from the crowded communities will reduce the growing menace of death on the highways, then we understand and commend this planning.

The arguments for and against the routing of a highway are as many and varied as road building itself. Many of these arguments are selfish, advanced by individuals who stand to gain or lose by the routing. Highway commissioners have been confronted with this evil for time immemorial.

When all of the plus factors are considered for routing highways away from crowded traffic areas, we think it is equally important to look up from the drawing board into the economic factors connected with routing a highway around a growing community that is producing ever-increasing tax revenues.

In the instance of the routing of the Purchase Parkway and the connecting artery in Tennessee, we sincerely ask that diligent effort be made to plan the routing with the least disturbance to our present economy.

We realize that whatever the direction, there will be dissident voices heard, but if the best interests of a community and the highway planners can be served by a routing that will bring about speed and effective traffic movement, as well as maintain the present levels of our sales and tax revenues, we hope that this compromise can be brought about at an early date.

POET'S CORNER

MY HOPE

When I have come to the end of the road,
I should like to look back and see
That I have done my very best
With the trust that's placed in me.

I should like to know that I have never,
By action, word or deed,
Betrayed a given confidence
Or forsaken a friend in need.

I should like the consolation,
When I have traveled the very last mile,
To know I've meant something to someone
And caused those in sorrow to smile.

I know that I shall be happy,
If in the heart of just one
I can leave one lingering memory
Of something good that I have done.

FULTON'S

Library Corner

by Miss Jessie Orgain

People all dream. So do animals. You probably have seen a cat's ears twitch or heard a dog whine in his sleep.

No doubt, a carry-over from dreams caused the first painters to use their imagination and try to reproduce what may have passed through their minds. The people of the Stone Age some 20,000 years ago made crude pictures on the walls of their caves to enlighten us today of what they saw and thought.

As man is always trying to improve what has already been done, they have continued to express their ideas and dreams in pictures. Some are beautiful, and some are just true to life.

Why say more, come by the library and learn more about painting. Some of the books which would be of interest are:

A CONCISE HISTORY OF MODERN PAINTING by Herbert Read. Sir Herbert Read has distinguished himself as a teacher, poet, and author. After World War I, he held a ten-year appointment to the Victoria and Albert Museum where he specialized in ceramics and stained glass. In this work he neither deals in generalities nor reduces his history to an array of names and dates. To the contrary, he sees development in terms of materials and perception. He conceives the history of art as a step-by-step extension of physical awareness. His purpose is to trade the organic development of the visual experience that is embodied in the art of painting and to show how this is related to the general movement of thought and change of sensibility in the period. He brings to his work not only the knowledge of a life-time devoted to its study, but the understanding of one who has himself participated in the creative adventure of modern art. The result is a coherent, perceptive, and enlightening presentation of the whole tenor of modern painting.

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF PAINTING edited by Bernard S. Myers. This large book is probably the most comprehensive one-volume encyclopedia of the art of painting ever published in the English language. Its over 3,000 entries contain biographies of the great painters of all time, including Chinese, Japanese, Persian and Indian painting, and lengthy articles on African art, Etruscan art, Egyptian art, cave painting, and so forth. In addition there are definitions of all technical terms and histories of the various "movements" such as impressionism, non-objective painting and surrealism. Perhaps the most unusual feature of the book is the integration of its illustrations, both color plates and halftones, with the text, so that in every case they are near the entry, whether biographical or descriptive, which they illustrate.

A TREASURE OF ART MASTERPIECES FROM THE RENAISSANCE TO THE PRESENT DAY edited by Thomas Craven. This book brings together the great paintings of the Western world, from Giotto and the masters of the Italian Renaissance to the French moderns and contemporary Americans. The masterpieces are grouped by school and arranged in chronological order. The paintings of the Italian school—the primitives, Michelangelo, Leonardo, Raphael, the Venetian painters of the high Renaissance—are succeeded by a representative selection from the Flemish, Dutch, and German schools. A section devoted to the great Spaniards—El Greco, Velasquez, and Goya—and a group of masterpieces of the early French schools, from Fouquet to Daumier, then follow. Here the great paintings of our Western civilization are displayed in all their brilliance, not merely for a fleeting glimpse or a chance acquaintance, but for renewed and enriching appreciation—for enduring delight.

If there are any communities in Fulton County that would like a Bookmobile stop scheduled, will you please contact the library. There is still one day every two weeks that is open for schedules.

Professor Goode, formerly head of the Animal Husbandry Department, and Morris Drake, field agent in 4-H club work, will assist County Agent Watts in a beef cattle tour in Fulton County Wednesday. Visits will be made to the farms of Ray Adams, Rob Adams, Justin Attebury, Edd Williamson, Jimmy Lawson and Lyle Shuck.

Members of the Fulton Young Men's Business Club will hold their regular monthly dinner meeting at The Strata Club in Martin, the secretary announced this week.

Another unfortunate accident occurred June 20 at the dangerous "blind" crossing, corner of Eddings and Fourth Street. The corner has been the scene of many accidents since the automatic stop light was removed by the city for repairs. The accident occurred as two cars approached the crossing at the same time, one driven by Finis Vancil of Fulton and the other by J. L. Saragusa of Louisiana. Saragusa's car struck the Vancil car and turned it over. Both cars were badly smashed up, but the occupants all escaped without serious injury.

Among the ads in The News was one from Conway's in New Orleans: Wanted gold teeth, such as crowns, bridgework and fillings. The price to be paid was $15.00 to $25.00 per troy ounce.

From Route Three, Fulton: Good old summertime means vacation, fried chicken, country ham with plenty of shade and ice, and perhaps a little ice cream occasionally.

Dean Williams and wife went to the show Sunday and to the Lois Kingston tabernacle at the Kingston store Sunday night.

From Austin Springs: Mrs. Buton Lassiter and baby son, Leslie Buton, have been removed from Haws Memorial to their home near here and are doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Doran Copeland have moved to near Sprout's bridge.

The green wrap tomato crop is growing by leaps and bounds, and gathering and shipping will start soon. Many farmers have out an acreage.

Our Christian Heritage

IT IS TIME TO RENEW OUR NATIONAL COVENANT

By Dr. N. Burnett Magruder

"And the King stood in his place and made a Covenant before the Lord to walk after the Lord... to perform the Words of the Covenant which are written in this Book and he caused all that were present in Jerusalem and Benjamin to stand to it." (II Chron. 34:31, 32)

The Twentieth Century, despite its material progress and benefit, is rapidly becoming a century of disaster and even greater dangers loom on the horizon of this decade.

People often ask, "What has happened that our civilization and our nation seems to be drifting from its historic faith and its standards of law and morality which have been the very bedrock of our history?" In this column today we want to offer some thoughts on what has happened to us.

We believe the clue to our decline - and in the realm of the spirit we have experienced a drastic decline - is a prevailing attitude in high places that this is a secular or a non-Christian country, and that God has nothing to do with its institutions except in the church. And, these people are even emptying the church of any sense of Divine origin or Divine purpose. To illustrate, the writer recently attended a series of lectures given by a nationally-known intellectual at a denominational college near Louisville. In his lectures he developed a thesis, before the students and faculty, that the Christian faith had nothing to do with the foundation of the United States; that, as a matter of fact, the founders were mainly atheists and skeptics who had come to America in order to get away from any religious controls. He also asserted that on this crowded planet, everybody would be in danger if we approached the national policy with the intensity of Christian faith. To many, these views may seem utterly astounding but they are commonly held among many educational, and in some cases religious leaders in high places.

During the 20th Century any concept that the nation was founded on a Covenant with the Son of God, or that Jesus Christ is the rightful Lord of all nations, seems to have been totally rejected and as a consequence, having dissolved the Covenant, the nation's life is now threatened with blight, pestilence and decay.

That Christianity lay at the foundation of the New England Colonies is powerfully demonstrated by the Mayflower Compact of November, 1620, in which our Pilgrim Forefathers made a Covenant in these words:

"Having undertaken for the glory of God an advancement of the Christian faith, and honor of our King and country, we voyaged to plant the first colony in Virginia, we do by these presents solemnly in the presence of God, and one of another, covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil body politic."

When we say America was founded on a Covenant with the Lord of Hosts and that this is a Christian country, as the Supreme Court said in the 19th Century, we refer to such actions as the Mayflower Compact.

In substance and in truth, 20th Century Americans have dissolved

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

Thank you very much for your most interesting supplement of your recent trip to Ecuador. I surely appreciate your forwarding this information to me.

This goodwill trip to Ecuador is a most unique and imaginative way of furthering relations with this Latin American Country. Since Fulton is a major center for banana distribution throughout the United States, your efforts to develop closer ties with banana producing countries in South America seem most constructive and worthwhile.

Your fourth annual International Banana Festival, to be held from September 25 through October 1, promises to be a very exciting and educational one. I certainly hope that my schedule will permit me to take part in the gay festivities you have planned for this occasion.

Again, my thanks for sending me your article.

Your sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

Your letter to Ollie Sause has been received in this office and has been forwarded to him in Guatemala, where he is now stationed as the Director of ROCAP, the Regional Office for Central America and Panamanian AID Affairs.

I have taken advantage of the opportunity to look at the newspaper supplement describing your trip to Ecuador and I can see that it must have been a very exciting and satisfying one for all of you. I have heard much of the Banana Festival activities in Fulton, Kentucky and I am pleased to have the opportunity to congratulate you and your entire group on such a worthwhile and constructive endeavor.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Jo:

I thought I would write and let you know that since I have returned to Fort Hood I have not failed to receive a paper each and every week. I really enjoy getting the paper and reading about home, it really helps to rid me of being so homesick.

I am glad to read that the Banana Festival is coming along so well, sure wish I could be home for it this year, but as it looks now I can't make it.

Give everyone my best and tell R. Paul that I'll try to write him one of these days.

● AUSTIN SPRINGS By Mrs. Carey Frieids

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Frieids and baby son, Kerry, left Wednesday for Tullahoma, Tenn., after a few days visit with children, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Argo, Chad and Kim, of Hickman.

Down at the Grant Bynum's and Margaret's home it was a gala day for Mr. Bynum when his relatives gathered Sunday to celebrate his 84th birthday. At noon a bountiful repast was enjoyed. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bynum, Mrs. Jimmy Sam Bynum, Mrs. Herbert Timmons, Mrs. Irene King, all of Mayfield. There were also Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mathis and daughters, Sammie Jane, Liz and Becky; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bynum and children, Gloria Ann and Hal. Everyone had an enjoyable day in the Bynum home.

Rev. Russell Rodgers filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a. m. and also at the evening service.

Work began on Acree and Morgan Cemeteries back in early spring and Condon Mitchell is the caretaker. Each cemetery is being well kept. The committee in charge urges everyone interested to send contributions early, as funds are needed each year to meet the expenditures. Take notice that the annual meet at Acree Cemetery is the first Saturday in August and at Morgan Cemetery the second Saturday in August.

The combining of wheat has gotten under way in these parts the past week, and reports from the farmers are that the yield is better than expected.

There is no improvement in the condition of Mrs. John Mitchell and she is very sick at this time, we regret to report.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell Farmer, of St. Louis, are now on a vacation to the south. They head for New Orleans, back by Florida and other points of interest and going by auto. They will be routing for ten days.

Get-Well wishes are extended to Mrs. Louise Chambers who is a patient in the Fulton Hospital for treatment and care. We hope she responds very quickly and able to get home, near here, soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Vincent are about the same, and their son, Ollie, continues to improve from a recent illness.

Mrs. Buton Lassiter has been suffering from what seems to be a strained or sprained ankle and arthritis. She is in bed a portion of the time. We hope she improves as days go by.

Your writer spent several days with her sister, Mrs. Roy Hammett, and Mr. Hammett on the Paris-Vale Road the past week. Had a delightful visit with them and with Miss Juanita Hammett of Lavinia, Tenn. Also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bennett, Northwood Drive, Huntingdon, Tenn., who were former residents of this area.

this contract and instead of the blessings of God, we are inviting the wrath of God. In ancient Israel when King Josiah discovered the Covenant in the temple, he said, "Great is the wrath of the Lord that is poured out on us because our fathers had not kept the Word of the Lord." (II Chronicles 34:21) This is exactly America's position today. Unless there is a body of people in our country who will renew this Covenant in the Name of the Son of God, and reinstate its obligations, the 20th Century is going to bring us even greater disasters than we have seen thus far. When King Josiah led all the people of Israel in a renewal of the Covenant, it carried with it the obligation of applying God's Principles to every area of the life of Israel. In the same manner, if we are to avoid national shipwreck, there must be a new Covenant basis for the nation's laws and its courts, for its schools and education, and for its ethics and its morals. In short, all our public institutions must again be brought under the influence of the Principles of Jesus Christ. Otherwise, anarchy, atheism and lawlessness will rule the land, and we will have lost the bulwark of our freedom under God.

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

MT ZION CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. Frank Blain, Pastor

Mt. Zion Cumberland Presbyterian Church was organized in 1850, with the following as charter members: John Hicks, Marck McAlister, Meddie Parker, Ben Latta, and a Mr. Morris. It is the only Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Hickman County, located on highway 1528 near Water Valley, Kentucky.

Mt. Zion church has never changed location but still uses the burial ground and building ground donated to them by Mr. Jim McAlister. They have worshipped in three buildings. The first church house was built when it was organized. The people used a horse power saw mill to get the lumber. The second building was a frame construction built in 1886. The present church building, a brick building, was erected in 1948.

In the Spring of 1951 under the leadership of the Rev. Courtney Fooks the church went full time. In 1952, during the pastorate of Rev. Fooks, a manse was built on ground given by Mr. Rich Gardiner.

The first youth work was organized in 1913. The first Missionary Society was organized in early history of the church. To-day the church continues to be interested in the youth of our community. The Cumberland Presbyterian Women continue to spearhead our work in Missions. Though the church has a rich and colorful history, we are not content to rest on past laurels, but open to paths of service for Jesus Christ.

The above Picture was taken during our recent Vacation Church School at Mt. Zion. During this school the boys and girls of our community were presented the challenge of learning more about God's word and how to get along together in Our Father's world. The church by the side of the road extends to all a cordial welcome to work and worship with us.

DEATHS

Mrs. Leon Bondurant

Mrs. Leon Bondurant died in the Lelaire Hospital in Houston, Texas, last Thursday evening, June 16, following a lengthy illness. Funeral services and burial were in Houston last Saturday, June 18.

Mrs. Bondurant is the former Miss Ruth Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hill, and a former resident of Fulton. She had lived in Texas for more than 20 years.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Jim Huntsucker of Houston, Texas, and Mrs. W. N. Louque of New Orleans.

Mrs. Ada Stephens

Funeral services for Mrs. Ada Stephens were held in Little Obion Church, east of Wingo, Monday, June 20, with Bro. Leon Penick and Bro. Robert Wall officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery, with arrangements by Jackson Funeral Home of Duketown.

Mrs. Stephens, 82, died suddenly Saturday morning at her home in Pilot Oak. She was the widow of P. E. Stephens, who died in 1961. She was a member of Little Bethel Missionary Baptist Church.

Surviving are two sons, John Stephens of Pilot Oak and Perry Stephens of Celina, Ohio; four daughters, Mrs. Rose Clark of Water Valley, Mrs. Azilee Boylen of West Memphis, Ark., Mrs. Ola Ashlock of Detroit and Mrs. Lee Hayden of South Pekin, Ill.; several grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Erving Cavender

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, June 19, in the Pilot Oak Church of Christ for Erving (Bill) Cavender. Bro. Connie Stroup officiated. Burial was in Old Bethel Cemetery, with arrangements in charge of Jackson Funeral Home of Duketown.

Mr. Cavender, 55, died in Hopkinsville Friday afternoon, following a long illness. He was a farmer, and was the son of the late Johnnie and Emma Jane Tibbs Cavender.

Surviving are four brothers, V. G. Cavender of Mayfield, Houston Cavender of Water Valley, Don Alben Cavender of Detroit and Darius Cavender of Warren, Mich.; one sister, Mrs. Don Starks, Route 1, Fulton, and several nieces and nephews.

Linden Carter

Linden Carter died Sunday, June 19, in the Haywood County Hospital at Brownsville, Tenn., following a long illness. He was a former Fultonian, son of W. L. Carter.

Funeral services were held yesterday (Wednesday) in the Brownsville Funeral Home and burial was in Oakwood Cemetery in Brownsville, with International Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Surviving are his wife, his father, a brother, Gordon Carter of Cleveland, Ohio, and a half-sister, Mrs. William S. Murphy of Tallahassee, Florida.

New Decorative Glass

Now you can turn drab, dark interiors in homes and offices into bright, light-filled spaces with a new decorative glass just introduced by American Saint Gobain. Called Cascade, it has the sparkle and lively appearance of a tumbling waterfall. Thousands of frothy bubbles are scattered at random beneath the surface of the glass. There's no repetition of design, so every square foot of Cascade is refreshingly different.

Cascade glass is expected to be used most frequently in walls, partitions and dividers. The glass gently obscures images, yet becomes vibrant with transmitted illumination. Around entrance areas, panels of Cascade maintain privacy and flood foyers with light. The versatile glass works beautifully with a wide variety of woods, metals and masonry. For more information on Cascade, and other ASG decorative glasses, look in the Yellow Pages for the nearest ASG glass distributor, or write: Cascade, P.O. Box 929, Kingsport, Tennessee 37602.

PERSONALLY THEIRS, BECAUSE THEY MADE IT

The chapel at Kentucky Village, the State Child Welfare Department's co-educational treatment facility near Lexington, for juvenile delinquents, was once a recreation room for younger boys. Now recreation facilities have been moved, and boys in the institution's building trades classes repainted the scarred walls, painted windows to look like stained glass, and carefully constructed the cross and pulpits. Child Welfare Commissioner Maurice Harmon says the transformation from recreation room to chapel served as a vocational training project with a valuable side effect—"the boys in treatment feel a personal response to the room in which they worship."

New Training Designed For Credit Unions

A series of special training programs designed to help officials of credit unions in limited-income areas to advise their members on money matters, was announced today by the Bureau of Federal Credit Unions.

Many people in limited-income areas, the Bureau notes, are paying more for what they buy than people in higher income areas. Since they are presumed to be bad credit risks—and seldom have the cash to pay for what they buy—they are forced to pay high rates of interest and, in many cases, are at the mercy of loan sharks.

Through the program of training sessions set up under an inter-agency agreement with the Office of Economic Opportunity, the credit union officials will be better equipped to help their low-income members in four important ways:

1. Consumer action with emphasis on community organizations, problems of consumers, marketing and shopping weaknesses.
2. Family financial counseling, with emphasis on defining what it is and how to do it.
3. Federal credit union operations and management.
4. Development of leadership including the significance of indigenous leadership and the recognition of good leadership traits.

The first training program will be held in the Boston area from May 16 to June 10. Five others will follow during the coming year in selected locations throughout the country.

Hopefully this project will help to fill five of the needs the President's Committee on Consumer Interest set forth in their report of June 1965 by helping the poor to:

1. Increase their ability to budget their resources.
2. Understand credit and be able to use it advantageously.
3. Learn to get fair value for each dollar spent.
4. Understand the public services available.
5. Increase their skill at comparing values.

One of the Federal credit unions which has already demonstrated the potentials of credit union service for those of limited income is the St. Bridget-St. Leo's Federal Credit Union of St. Louis. Most of the people living in the area served by this credit union earn wages of $2,400 or less a year per family. Financial problems other than low wages also plague the people. Third-rate goods at exorbitant prices, usury, and constant debt are among the problems with which these people have to contend.

In telling what the credit union has meant to her, one member stated, "I used to live in the project, had no steady income, and was actually going nowhere. Then the credit union came into my life and things changed. Today I own my own business and am buying my own house and store. I have an income. I am a respected leader of the community. At the same time I conduct my own war on poverty by bringing good clothing at an honest price to the neighborhood."

Credit unions have long been identified as effective tools in the war against poverty. Their services are particularly geared to meet the type of problems faced by those of limited income. Credit unions (1) encourage and help their members to save regularly; (2) give their members a place where they may borrow for good purposes at fair interest rates; and (3) advise members on how to use money wisely.

INPATIENT HOSPITAL SERVICE

Hospital insurance will help to pay for your care in a hospital for up to 90 days during each spell of illness.

DOLLARS AND CENTS

Each spell of illness provides for 90 days of benefit services. For the first 60 days, the insurance pays for all but $40 for the covered services you receive. From the 61st to the 90th day you would be responsible for the first $10 each day for covered services.

WHAT HOSPITAL INSURANCE WILL COVER

- * Room and board in a semi-private room (2 to 4 beds in a room).
- * Nursing services ordinarily furnished to the hospital's patients.
- * Supplies, appliances, and equipment ordinarily furnished to the hospital's patients, such as splints, casts, wheelchairs, crutches, etc.

* Blood transfusions, except for the cost of the first 3 pints of blood in one spell of illness.

* Medical services ordinarily furnished to the hospital's patients, such as X-ray or radium treatments.

* Therapeutic services ordinarily furnished to the hospital's patients, such as X-ray or radium treatments.

* Operating room costs.

* Drugs and biologicals ordinarily furnished to the hospital's patients.

* Diagnostic services ordinarily furnished by the hospital to its patients. For example, blood tests, electrocardiograms, etc.

* Services of hospital residents and interns who are in approved training programs.

WHAT HOSPITAL INSURANCE WILL NOT COVER

* Private room, unless it is medically necessary—ordinarily only when the patient's condition requires him to be isolated (otherwise you pay the difference).

* Private duty nurses.

* Cost of first 3 pints of blood (Hospitals will not charge for pints replaced by donors).

* Physicians' and surgeons' services. (Medical insurance helps pay doctor bills.)

* Personal comfort items, such as radio and telephone charges, TV rental, etc.

* Hospital services after 90 days in a spell of illness.

HOSPITAL CASE EXAMPLE

Mr. "Y" goes to the hospital and is discharged 14 days later. The bill for his stay totalled $571 and was itemized as follows: Semi-private room and board - $378; Operating room and supplies - $90; Oxygen tent for 2 days - $20; Diagnostic tests - $45; Drugs furnished in hospital - $30; Television and telephone services - $8.

Hospital insurance does not cover the television and telephone costs—so Mr. Y must pay the $8 for these services.

Of the remaining $563 costs (for covered services), Hospital Insurance will pay $523 (all but $40 which Mr. "Y" must pay).

Rice Finishes Advanced Course For Insurance

Leon D. Rice, of Rice Insurance Agency, Inc., 231 Main Street, Fulton, Kentucky has successfully completed the Advanced Course of the Sixth Annual Summer School for Agents sponsored by State Automobile Mutual Insurance Company of Columbus, Ohio. The School was conducted at Capital University in Columbus and was under the direction of Dr. John S. Bickley, Professor of Insurance at The University of Texas.

"Agent Leon D. Rice was one of the 53 agents chosen to participate in this educational program," stated Paul R. Gingham, president of State Automobile Mutual Insurance Company. "His time was devoted to learning techniques for evaluating more effectively the insurance needs for the business firms of his community. Particular attention was given to the changing trends in the insurance industry, and the important services performed by the local, independent agent."

A certificate of satisfactory completion was presented to Agent Leon D. Rice in recognition of the knowledge he acquired while attending the State Auto School.

Paper Dresses Presented At Chestnut Glade

"A Dream That Came True," was demonstrated at the Chestnut Glade Club meeting in the home of Mrs. Laverne Owensby last Thursday. Mrs. Helen Wylie, substituting for the Consumer Education leader, Mrs. Myrtle Temple, demonstrated two dresses closely resembling print that were made of paper and could be worn several times. She explained many possibilities for this material.

Mrs. Jimmie Westbrook reported on the floor covering meeting that she recently attended and gave useful advice on points to remember when buying floor covering.

The Foods and Nutrition leader gave information concerning "Emergency Food," advising every homemaker to keep several days supply of food on hand at all times.

The roll call was answered by each member showing a picture of a room she admired.

Mrs. Paul Reams gave a beautiful devotional, using the topic "Appreciation of Beauty of Nature" with Matthew 6:24-34 as the scripture.

Mrs. W. C. Morrison directed the song, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and read the Club Creed.

The president, Mrs. Owensby, made announcements of the "special interest" meeting in McKenzie June 22-23, when furniture will be refinished, and of the club members' visit to the Weakley County Nursing Home on June 29. Plans were made for the July meeting, when the club will be hostess to the Tumbling Creek Club, in the home of Mrs. Harvey Vaughan.

Mrs. Helen Wylie presented a very instructive film and discussion on Color in the Home.

The recreation was directed by Mrs. Harvey Vaughan, substituting for Mrs. Fred Vaughan, and was a "Flower Romance." Mrs. A. B. Reed was the winner. The door prize was won by Mrs. Jeter Wheat.

A party plate was served to the members, Mrs. Wiley and two visitors, Mrs. Jeter Wheat and Mrs. A. B. Reed.

Miss Lynn Bushart Wed To Robert Hyland Saturday In Formal Wedding Ceremony At First Methodist Church

By Agatha Gayle Voelpel

The stately Gothic sanctuary of the First Methodist Church presented a most handsome setting for the formal wedding of Miss Mary Lynn Bushart and Robert Walton Hyland which was solemnized at five o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday, the eighteenth of June.

The impressive double ring ceremony was read by the Reverend William T. Barnes. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Ward Bushart; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emmett Hyland. The ceremony was witnessed by a large assembly of friends and relatives of the bridal couple and of their parents.

Centering the back of the choir was a mammoth arrangement of white gladioli and rich greenery. Spiral candelabra carried out a heart design. Other candelabra were placed in the altar area. Outlining the choir rail and the communion rail were groups of white cathedral candles. Woodwardia and huckleberry accented the setting. The pews were marked with clusters of satin ribbons and gladioli.

As the guests assembled, Mr. John Winter, organist, presented a program of appropriate organ numbers which included: "Grand Choeur," Gigout; "Concerto in B flat," Handel; and "Carillon" by Sowerby. As the mothers were seated, "Elevation No. 38" by Benoit was played. Immediately preceding the processional, the chimes announced the hour of five o'clock. During the ceremony "A Rose Tree Hath Arisen," Brahms was softly played. The traditional wedding marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn were used for the processional and recessional.

Mrs. Rodney Miller, soprano, cousin of the bride, sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" by Gounod and "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod. At the conclusion of the ceremony, she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The radiant young bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an original wedding gown by Bianchi, designed in light ivory peau de soie and Alencon lace. The bodice of French net was heavily appliqued with the jeweled Alencon lace and was designed with a scalloped scooped neckline and elbow length sleeves. The voluminous skirt poised over petticoats had a high rising Empire bustline and controlled bell hipline fullness. Jeweled lace motifs accented the sides and back of the skirt. A tailored back bow and a cabbage rose secured multiple fullness from which developed a full swept court train.

The wedding gown had been worn by her sister. A miniature pillbox headpiece, covered with matching lace and heavily embroidered with pearls, secured a quadruple tiered veil of English illusion which cascaded to the waistline. She wore pearls, a gift from the groom. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses centered with a pure white orchid. The bride's sister, Mrs. Richard Lewis Cardwell, was her matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. James S. Haag, Mrs. Donald Lockhart and Misses Cathy Hyland, sister of the groom, and Nancy Bushart, Gail Bushart, and Merideth Miller, cousins of the bride.

The attendants wore identical floor length gowns of candelight crepe fashioned in an Empire style, featuring a high sweetheart neckline, kabuki sleeves, and a controlled sheath skirt. Crepe bows secured shoulder length candelight mantillas. They carried a spray of ivory cymbidium orchids.

Susan Lynn Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Miller, and namesake of the bride was an enchanting flower girl. Her dress was fashioned of candelight crepe, along similar lines to the bridesmaids. Paul Hyland, son of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Hyland, and a nephew of the groom, was ring-bearer.

Dr. John L. Hyland served as his brother's best man.

The groomsmen were ward Bushart, Tom Bushart, brothers of the bride, Richard Cardwell, brother-in-law of the bride, Jim Bushart, a cousin of the bride, John Schwerdt and Jim Newton.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bushart chose a designer's original of pistachio silk, designed along controlled lines. Her formal hat was a circlet of contrasting tulle. Two brilliant light amber jeweled buttons ornamented the bodice of her dress. Her accessories complemented her dress, and she wore a white orchid. Mrs. Hyland, mother of the groom, wore an attractive dress of light pink silk. The neckline featured a cut out design which was embellished with matching net and braid. Her hat was designed with shaded pink silk flowers. Her accessories matched her frock and she wore a white orchid.

Following the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Bushart entertained with a reception at the Fulton Country Club. A fan shaped arrangement of gladioli centered the large mantle. The bride's table was covered with a floor length taffeta cloth overlaid with net. Centering the table were a five branch silver candelabra decorated with white daisies, snapdragons, and tall candles. The tall wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Crystal punch bowls were at the long table. Silver appointments were used.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Maxwell McDade, Mrs. Glynn Bushart, Mrs. H. L. Bushart, Mrs. Johnny Jones, Mrs. Mike Walker, Mrs. Charles Bowers, Jr., Mrs. Bob Lindsey, Mrs. John Hyland, and Miss Jan Sweatt. Miss Mary Swann Bushart, aunt of the bride, presided at the register table which was decorated with a silver candelabra holding tall tapers.

Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Hyland left for their wedding trip to Miami, Florida. For traveling the bride chose an ensemble of shrimp silk. The jacket was hip length. Her hat was designed of beige tulle. Her accessories were beige. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Out of town guests attending the wedding and the reception included: Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Halloran and Laura, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hyland, Tom, Larry and Vince, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Poston, Memphis, Tennessee; Mr. G. P. Godfrey, Lexington, Kentucky; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bowers, Savannah, Tennessee; Captain and Mrs. Bob Lindsey, Louisville, Kentucky; Mrs. W. T. Barnes, Brownsville; Mr. Don Lockhart, Louisville; Dr. and Mrs. John Lyle Shaw, Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Dowdy, Mayfield; Mr. James Haag, Lexington; Mrs. John Hyland and children, Owensboro; and Miss Jan Sweatt, Mayfield.

Mrs. Robert Walton Hyland

Former Police Judge Paul Laine took advantage of cool breezes on the porch of his home on Eddings Street to study his Sunday School lesson. He ventured out into the sun to accommodate the News photographer, then went back to the shade of the porch to continue his study.

Any day of the week, any day in the year is a good time to enjoy Fulton's favorite indoor recreation... bridge. Here the photographer found a congenial foursome at the home of Mrs. L. O. Bradford. They are, left to right, Mrs. Gid Willingham, Mrs. Joe Bennett, Mrs. Bradford and Mrs. Elizabeth Joyner.

Miss Phyllis Ann Myers Marries Thomas Taylor In Home Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Myers of Clinton are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Phyllis Ann, to Thomas Larry Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Taylor of Water Valley, Route 2.

The wedding was solemnized on Sunday afternoon, June 12, at 2 o'clock, in the home of the groom's parents, in the presence of the immediate families.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Otis Schultz, pastor of the Lynnville Baptist Church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a stunning street length gown of peau de soie, with a full skirt that fell from the waist-line in soft pleats.

The bodice was of embroidered lace with a high neck-line. Her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a pill-box head-piece. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and petite daisies.

The bride chose as her only attendant Miss Betty Presson. She wore a blue sheath of imported silk and her corsage was of white carnations.

Mr. Taylor chose as his best man Ralph Allen.

After the ceremony the couple went on a short wedding trip.

The bride attended school in Hickman county.

Mr. Taylor was graduated from Wingo High School in the class of 1964.

The couple will make their home in Fulton where Mr. Taylor is employed at the Henry I. Siegel Company.

Mrs. Henry Hicks, Agnes Hicks and Sierra Hicks found it pleasant to take a nice stroll to and from the Fulton Library, which is gaining more and more popularity as the days go on.

Keep Hands Lovely

PRETTY SMOOTH—This time of year, hands get rough treatment because they do so much outdoors as well as in. To keep them in party shape all the time, the Pacquin people suggest regular applications of a new hand lotion made especially for extra dry skin. It is nourishing and lubricates, yet its rich white protection never leaves hands sticky. Available at all stores, it keeps skin supple in other dry skin areas, too, and should be applied liberally.

First Notices For Medicare Premiums Due

First Medicare premium notices are now reaching some 3,700 area residents who signed up for the voluntary Medical Insurance part of Medicare, Charles Whitaker, Paducah district social security manager, announced today.

About 16,000 other Medicare eligibles will not receive notices, Whitaker said, as they are due social security, railroad, or civil service benefits from which the $3 premium will be deducted.

A few social security beneficiaries will receive notices since their monthly benefit is not currently payable because of high earnings (or for other reasons). As there is no payment due from which the premium can be deducted, these beneficiaries will be asked to pay by check or money order until their monthly benefit again becomes payable.

"We have learned that a few beneficiaries whose benefit is currently payable are getting notices in error," Whitaker continued. "When this occurs, we ask the beneficiary to write to us, sending the premium notice, so that corrective actions can be taken."

The punch card premium notices call for a quarterly payment of $9 to cover the amount due for July, August, and September.

Older persons who cannot manage to pay quarterly may send in a payment of $6 for two months, or $3 for one month. Payments on a six, nine, or twelve month basis may also be made by those who prefer to do so.

"Payment should be made by a check or money order payable to Social Security Medical Insurance," Whitaker said. Those living on rural routes can secure a postal money order through their mail carrier.

OBION COUNTY

Joe Martin, County Agent
Union City, Tenn.

SOYBEAN OBSERVATION PLOTS

We have several demonstration plots in Obion County with crop varieties, fertilizers, and chemical herbicides, however, three plots on the farms of Sterling Stone, James Carl Hammond and Lemon Baker should be of special interest to soybean producers.

These three plots are being used in the evaluation of five different pre-emerge herbicides on soybeans. The chemical weed control materials used include Lorox, Ramrod, Alanap Plus, Dinitro and Dinitro Plus Lorox. Since all of us realize the great need for a good chemical for control of weeds in soybeans, we are especially interested in seeing how these chemicals perform.

COTTON HERBICIDES FEATURED AT WEST TENNESSEE FIELD DAY

Which are the most effective preemergence herbicides for weed control in cotton? The most effective postemergence herbicides? Is it necessary to use both types?

"The best way to find the answers to these questions is to attend the Field Day at The West Tennessee Experiment Station at Jackson on June 29, 1966."

The half-day program begins at 8:30 a. m. and ends at noon.

Experiment Station comparisons of new and recommended pre-emergence herbicides include Diuron, C-2059 (Cotolan), Trifluralin, SD-11831 (Planavin), CP-31393 (Ramrod), and others. Several dates of planting and rates of application were used.

Postemergence herbicide treatments include mixtures of new and recommended materials compared with clean cultivation. Materials include DNB, Cotolan, Prometryne and Norea plus DSMA.

"Cotton was planted with combinations of each herbicide, along with a systemic insecticide and a fungicide." "This field day should present some valuable information to every cotton grower."

Machinery used to apply herbicides will be displayed on the grounds.

PIERCE STATION By Mrs. Charles Lowe

(For June 16)

Riley Smith returned from the Baptist Hospital in Paducah the last of the week. He had surgery last Monday and is improving nicely. He is at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bob DeMyer, for a few days, but will enter a nursing home in Fulton.

Mrs. Blanche Carter and son, Orval, and Mrs. Virginia Hay had Sunday night supper in Dyer with Mrs. Carter's daughter, Mrs. Bobby McNeely, and family.

Mrs. Ishum Conner spent a few days of last week in Jackson with her sister, Mrs. G. J. Lay, and family.

Ben Jarrett Matthews is a patient in Veterans Hospital in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith spent last Thursday with Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. Virgil Green, and Mr. Green near Mayfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Conner and children, of St. Louis, spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ishum Conner.

I'm sure the members of Chapel Hill are glad to have Bro. John Bradley as pastor for another year.

Mrs. Bud Stem and grandson, Garry, returned from Paducah Wednesday night, after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Royce Lowe and family left Wednesday morning, after a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lowe. They expected to spend a couple of days with friends in Pine Bluff, Ark.

Mrs. May Roper is on the sick list; also Mrs. Maude Dedmon is in the Fulton Hospital. We wish each of them an early recovery.

A nice crowd attended church at Johnson Grove Sunday. Rev. James Holt filled the pulpit at eleven o'clock and Sunday night. A nice crowd attended Sunday School at Chapel Hill.

The Mancil Roach family had several of the children in Sunday to celebrate Father's Day: Mr. and Mrs. Dickey of Union City, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sterferder of Dyersburg, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Ferguson of Memphis, Mrs. Betty Burcham and daughters of Clinton, Mrs. Peggie Noice and Mrs. Virgil Covington of Fulton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cunningham and sons, Paul and Ricky, of Paducah, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Bud Stem.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Adams, of Martin, spent Sunday with Mrs. C. E. Lowe. Afternoon visitors were Mrs. Louise Whitis and Mrs. Gladys Gibbs of Mayfield and Mrs. Nelson Tripp of Fulton.

David Long was on the sick list a few days last week.

Vadie Richardson, of Martin, was in Pierce one afternoon last week, saying hello to old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Buford Adams of Martin and son Tommy and wife of Lansing, Mich., visited Mr. and Mrs. Bud Stem Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rogers spent Sunday in Memphis with their daughter, Linda.

ACP Sign-Up For Conservation Now Underway

farmers who wish to establish soil and water conservation practices on their farms with Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) assistance should visit the ASCS' office NOW to discuss their conservation problems and file their requests as soon as possible. It is important that farmers file their requests now in order to get the necessary approval and take care of their program details before the time is at hand to actually begin work.

Sound land use, which the ACP encourages, has meant the protection and development of the Nation's land and water resources. Such practices as stripcropping, contouring, and grass waterways, windbreaks and terraces, improved range use and tree planting have all aided in reducing erosion, gullying, and sedimentation. Farm ponds which furnish water for livestock, recreation, and fire protection, have also provided a touch of beauty to the farmsteads. An acre of woodland not only affords timber and land protection; it also means food and habitat for increased numbers of wildlife which seek out and abound in such protected surroundings. Other practices available include establishing and improving vegetative cover on the land; improvement and protection of the soil by liming for legumes and grasses; constructing wells and pipelines for livestock water; construction of gully stabilizing or sediment retention dams to control erosion, to prevent or heal gullying, or to reduce runoff of excess water. Also available to Obion County farmers is a practice for constructing of ponds or dams for fish.

Two practices have been added that will be applicable only to eligible areas on farmland located within public view from a well-traveled, hard-surfaced road; they are (1) stabilization of gullies, strip-mined, severely eroded, and abandoned cropland areas and (2) plantings to screen unsightly areas from view.

We urge you to give consideration to needed conservation work on your farm which will not only maintain and improve natural resources but at the same time will beautify the countryside.

Come by our office at your earliest convenience and file your request. This must be done before the practice is started and on or before July 29th, 1966.

Barley Support Price Is Set For $1.04 Bu.

Prices set for the 1966 crop of barley will be supported at a total $1.04 per bushel in Fulton County, Roy Bard, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced. The total support is made up of a loan purchase rate of 84 cents per bushels and a price-support payment of 20 cents per bushel. The payments are made on the projected production of up to 50 percent of the farm's feed grain base.

Terminal loan rates for 1966-crop barley are the same as in 1965. Information on terminal rates is available at the ASCS county office.

To determine support rates for individual producers, the county and terminal loan rates are further adjusted for grade and quality. The discounts are unchanged from those in effect for 1965.

Plan For Sudan Grass This Year!

Many years when we have ample moisture early in the year such as we had in April, we often forget how hot and dry the summer gets in July. All livestock men, and this is especially true in dairying, should have a patch of sudan for that hot weather pasture. Sudan grass that is grown on fertile soil is a most productive forage crop. It makes substantial growth and provides abundant pasture during the very hot summer months.

Piper is the variety which will qualify for maximum yields, according to tests with sweet and common sudan. Piper is reported to have a longer prussic acid potential, a higher resistance to leaf diseases, makes better growth in the very hot weather, and has excellent palatability.

Hay is seldom made from sudan grass, because it is slow to dry; however, with the hay conditioners of today, it is possible to cure hay from sudan. Sudan from the day it is seeded usually takes about 30 days to begin grazing, or about 14 to 18 inches tall. It should be left until the seed are in the hard dough stage before cutting for silage. The protein level usually runs slightly higher than corn silage, but sudan silage will return about 20 percent less total digestive nutrients.

When grazing sudan we have already stated that the plants should reach about 18 inches tall. The purpose in this is two-fold. First, the sudan plant is a very rapid grower; and the root system does not develop as fast as does the top portion of the plant, thus it is very easily pulled loose. Many stands have been thinned severely when turned on too early. Next, the prussic acid content seems to be somewhat higher when the plant is short.

I would like to give you the benefit of farmer experiences which have been met with much success: Plant sudan on land that will produce a top yield of tobacco or 100 bushels of corn. The very best land is the place for your sudan pasture.

50 pounds of actual Nitrogen per acre will be needed for desired production, in addition to necessary fertilizer for the 100 bushels of corn (potash and phosphorus).

Make sure you have a clean seed bed, No Weeds Please!

Always use CERTIFIED seed . . . remember the seed tag.

Sudan should be seeded when the soil warms, say from May 15 to June 10. The season will have much to do with this.

Set the wheat drill for 2 pecks for a rate of 20 to 25 pounds. I would suggest just a little tap or two past the 2 peck mark for good measure, you know your drill better than I, do this will not be difficult.

Sudan will give you top yields and production if you will just follow a few of the management practices that have been proven successful.

I have one more suggestion to make if you are a dairyman and have a really good crop of sudan to use as pasture . . . be sure to order some extra cans when you turn into the sudan field this summer!

Scouts Note Changes Toward Progress, And That's The Long And Short Of It

"We've been wearing long pants as long as we've been in the Scouts — and that's over eight years," two 16-year members of the Boy Scouts of America said today after hearing about the proposal for British Boy Scouts to do away with the traditional short pants.

Tommie Ed Fielder and Charles Green are Explorers now—the program for boys who are in high school—in Post 2 at the Walter G. Houghland Foundry and Machine Shop, and they wear a blue jacket, grey slacks, and a maroon tie with white shirt.

"Sure," Fielder said, "we've helped out at summer camp and we've worn Scout shorts there because they're a lot more comfortable. In fact, as soon as the warm weather comes along, we wear shorts and T-shirts around town. Most of the high school fellows do."

As to the British proposal for older-Scouts to "meet girls," the two young men who attended Lone Oak High School explained that their Explorer Post has several co-ed activities every year.

"I guess we've been interested in girls since before we started to high school," Fielder admitted, "and I think one reason I like Exploring is that we can have some special co-ed activities."

He pointed out that some of the Explorer social activities have included a splash party, a football game and after-game dinner, a co-ed picnic, a progressive dinner, and a winter sports party.

"We even had some activities a couple years ago that we called a glamour panel and a social savvy quiz so we could get answers to problems that may come up when a fellow first starts dating."

Both Fielder and Green agreed that the Exploring program is more than co-ed parties, however. They mentioned the service projects, emergency service training, and vocational exploration that also is a part of their Exploring program.

A major research project completed in 1959 led to the new Exploring program for high school age boys.

"We don't know enough about the British Scouts or about how their program works to know how these ideas would work there, but I'd guess there have to be changes from time to time just to keep up to date," Fielder said.

That's right," Green echoed, "we were both Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts, and we've seen how there's a gradual change in all of Scouting—like the change in uniforms, new merit badges, and even the types of activities and the way a Boy Scout summer camp is run."

Henry O. Whitlow, president of the Four Rivers Council and prominent lawyer, said that in his years of Scouting activity, he had seen Scouting change from knickerbockers and shorts to long trousers, from merit badges like blacksmithing to space exploration and oceanography, and from what are now considered childish games to virile, rugged activities that would be a challenge to any man.

"We believe that the great appeal for boys to want to be Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, or Explorers is due to the variety of experiences they can get in Scouting," Whitlow said. "As people who are interested in the kind of training and education that boys get, we can see that Scouting as it is practiced in the U. S. offers opportunities to develop self-confidence, satisfactions in service to others, and the fun of working in a group. It prepares each boy to achieve his adult potential as a responsible citizen."

Whitlow explained that the National Scout Organization is continually studying the programs for boys, and periodically major research projects are undertaken by such groups as the Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton and the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center.

News From Our Boys In The SERVICE

Specialist Waters, a mechanic in the battalion's 147th Ordnance Company, was last stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Waters' mother, Mrs. Martha J. Shephard, lives at 423 Cedar St.

LOS ALAMITOS, CALIF. June 8—Aviation Machinist Mate Second Class William G. Stem, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stem of Route 4, Fulton, Ky., is participating in two weeks active duty for training with Reserve Patrol Squadron 793 attached to the U. S. Naval Air Reserve Training Unit, Memphis, Tennessee.

The training, consisting of advanced Anti-submarine warfare tactics, is being conducted at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Los Alamitos, Calif.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Airman Jerry D. Minton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper L. Minton of Rt. 1, Hickman, Ky., has been assigned to Plattsburgh AFB, N. Y., after completing Air Force basic training.

The airman will be trained on the job as an air policeman with the Strategic Air Command.

A graduate of Fulton County High School, Airman Minton attended Little Rock (Ark.) University and Murray (Ky.) State University.

U. S. ARMY, EUROPE—Army Specialist Four J. Dale Newsom, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon D. Newsom, Route 1, Hickman, Ky., was named soldier of the month for the 7th Signal Group in Germany, May 31.

A radio operator in Company B of the group's 16th Signal Battalion near Butzbach, Specialist Newsom was selected for his soldierly appearance, knowledge and performance of duties and military courtesy.

He entered the Army in April 1965, completed basic training at Fort Gordon, Ga., and arrived overseas last September.

Newsom is a 1961 graduate of Fulton County High School and was employed by Salant & Salant in Union City, Tenn., before entering the Army.

KENLAKE VARIETY SHOWS—Woody Herman and Billy Edd Wheeler are two of the big name stars who will appear at the Kenlake Amphitheatre in Kenlake State Park this summer. The Dukes of Dixieland, jazz musicians, will open the 10 program schedule July 1-4; and Woody Herman and his group will close the amphitheatre season with performances September 2-4. This summer will mark the first season of variety-type entertainment at the amphitheatre.

Equal Rights Poster Now Being Shown

A new poster, proclaiming an end to discrimination in places of public accommodation and service, will soon be very much in evidence throughout the Commonwealth.

On a white background with printing in two shades of blue, the poster reads:

"Welcome . . . The Kentucky Civil Rights Act of 1966 requires that every person receive full and equal service in business establishments — without discrimination because of race, color, religion or national origin. It is our policy to comply fully with that law."

The new Kentucky Civil Rights Act of 1966, effective July 1, authorizes the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights to require virtually all places of public accommodation and service in the State to display the official poster pledging compliance with the Act.

The poster, adopted informally by the commission at a meeting in May, will receive official commission approval in early July.

Some 14,000 posters will be mailed to places of public accommodation within the next few weeks, said Galen Martin, executive director of the commission.

He added that another poster for Kentucky employers of eight or more persons is now being designed and will be distributed later in the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. Fields Receive UT Degrees

Robert D. Fields, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ples Fields of Hickman, has received his MD degree at the University of Tennessee Medical Units in Memphis and will intern for one year at John Gaston Hospital, starting July 1.

His wife, the former Marcia Heywood of Canton, Miss., received her BS degree in nursing at the same ceremony and will work in Memphis.

GOLF ON FOURTH

A golf tournament will be held at the Fulton Country Club on the afternoon of July 4, directed by J. T. Nanney. A pot-luck supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. All members, stockholders and guests are invited.

Billy Edd Wheeler, Other Stars Booked At Kenlake Amphitheatre

Vacationers at Kenlake State Park, Hardin, Ky., can enjoy weekend musical variety entertainment this summer in the park's amphitheatre.

The Kentucky Department of Parks and the West Kentucky Drama Association arranged the program, which includes many top-flight singers and musicians.

Opening a 10-program schedule will be the Dukes of Dixieland, noted for their jazz stylings. The popular and colorful Dukes, who have many record albums to their credit, will perform July 1-4.

The Lexington Singers, an 80-member group, run the musical scale from pops and Broadway to semi-classical and light opera. The program is choral and instrumental, and runs July 8 and 9.

After eight years of darkness, the lights will come on again at Indian Ford Theater in the Berea College Forest. The amphitheatre formerly staged "Wilderness Road".

A new outdoor drama, "The Daniel Boone Story", will premiere Saturday, June 25, at 8 o'clock and continue nightly, with the exception of Sundays, through September 5.

The Doc Severinsen Sextet brings its sound to the amphitheatre stage July 15-16. Doc plays his trumpet with the Skitch Henderson orchestra on the "Tonight Show," and the show's host, Johnny Carson, says Doc is "the best in the business."

Mary Shelton and Company move stage center July 22-23. She's called a "most pleasant and relaxing entertainer." "A charming lady with a lovely voice and a delightful sense of humor," her piano and singing magic has thrilled radio and club audiences.

Billy Edd Wheeler, who writes and sings of the southern mountains and its people, takes over the stage July 29-30. Wheeler, whose hundreds of folk and country tunes include many songs featured by such artists as the Kingston Trio and Hank Snow, is a versatile and popular performer. Kenlake remembers him for his Mr. Rivers r.e. in "Stars in My Crown."

On August 5-6 the Louisville Thoroughbred Chorus brings barbershop singing to the amphitheatre. This 40-member all-male organization performs as a group, as well as forming a number of singing quartets. They were SPEBSQSA (Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Singing in America) national champions in 1964.

Fiddlin' "Sleepy" Marlin and family, known as the Fabulous Musical Marlins, perform their stringed wizardry on the Kenlake stage August 12-13. Marlin's fiddlin' entertainment has been seen and heard on records, television, stage, motion pictures and radio.

One of Kentucky's proudest and best-known groups, the 90-member

Central Kentucky Youth Symphony Orchestra, fills the stage on August 19-20. The New York Times said, "This group played with a remarkable warmth of tone and youthful impulsiveness." Its conductor is Joseph Pival.

The P. U. (Pantomime University) Band of Owensboro brings its superb mimic action to Kenlake in the next-to-last summer entertainment, on August 26-27. This unique Kentucky company, composed of sixteen performers, has dates as far apart as Miami, Chicago, and Canada.

One of the nation's best known bandsmen, Woody Herman, brings his "Third Herd" in for the summer's finale on September 2-4. The clarinet stylings in the Herman manner are a musical trademark.

Reserved seats for the Dukes of Dixieland, the Doc Severinsen Sextet, and the Woody Herman Third Herd are: $3 reserved; $2.50 general admission; half-price for children 12 and under.

Prices for the other seven programs are: $2.50 reserved; $2 general admission; half-price for children 12 and under.

Season tickets are $20 for adults (a 10-program savings of $6.50), $10 for children. Tickets are available at Kenlake State Park, Hardin, Kentucky 42048.

12 Red Carpet Vacation Areas Lure Vacationers

Kentucky has divided her unique and varied vacationland into 12 red-carpet vacation regions. Each region has its own special vacation attractions and each extends the warm hand of hospitality that is so famous throughout the Blue grass state.

The new regional divisions should be a great help to travelers visiting Kentucky. Whether it's famous underground caverns, lush Blue-grass horse farms, big man-made lakes or scenic mountain grandeur, there's a special region to suit the taste of any vacationing family.

And every region is blessed with an abundance of luxury accommodations, vacation resorts, boat docks and restaurants serving famous Kentucky dishes.

CHESTNUT GLADE By Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

Friends and relatives are cordially invited to the Vaughn family reunion at the Harvey Vaughn home on the first Sunday in July.

Mrs. Durrell Terrell was honored with a birthday supper last Saturday. This group was especially happy to have Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Sims present, as Mrs. Sims has been a shut-in for the past several months due to a fractured hip. Others enjoying this occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barber and Mr. and Mrs. Billie Copeland.

Mr. and Gary, and Mr. and Mrs. Billie Copeland, Jr., have returned from a vacation trip spent sight seeing in Nashville, Knoxville, the Smokies, Chattanooga and the Lookout Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Copeland have returned to their home in Mississippi, after a vacation with their parents.

Mrs. Bernard Clark is a patient in the Obion County Hospital where she had surgery last week.

Last week end, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Cummings visited Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cummings at Henderson, Ky., where they have horse in the races.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anthis, from Muskogee, Okla., visited the J. B. Nanney's recently.

Miss Linda Nanney is employed at Siegel's for the summer, prior to entering U. T. M. B. this fall.

Mrs. June Wright is doing graduate work at U. T. M. B.

$1,000,000 Can't Buy a Better Bottle of Bourbon!

DISTILLED AND BOTTLED BY HEAVEN HILL DISTILLERIES, INC., BARDSTOWN, NELSON, COUNTY, KENTUCKY

This is the first photograph taken after the camera came back from the factory and is not quite in focus, but it tells the story just the same. Mrs. Connie Pawlukiewicz, Mrs. Annabelle Edwards and Bill Jolley pose with one of the many life-size figures that will decorate Fulton city streets and Cabana City during the up-coming Banana Festival. The figures are being shown at the Festival office, now open for your volunteer assistance in the building on Commercial Avenue formerly occupied by Meacham's Market.

This is what you would call an exceptionally "sharp" picture of a boy and his bicycle. The baseball "star" is Gene Wilson son of Mr. and Mrs. obby Wilson. Gene is a member of the White Sox Little League baseball team.

Enjoying vacation time, just strolling here and there all over town is a popular pastime for youngsters around the twin cities... and that's just what the News found the young folks above doing. They strolled away too fast for the News to identify them.

Billy McCollum and Larry Ader inspect the equipment which brought "Touch Tone" calling to Fulton. This extremely technical equipment is one of the most modern communications equipment in the world.

Billy McCollum, switchman in the Fulton Southern Bell Telephone Central Office, points happily at the figures on the traffic registers which count each telephone call. On the first anniversary of dial conversion in the Fulton exchanges, subscribers have been averaging 700,000 completed calls per month this year.

While the News photographer was snapping photos Mrs. Joe Kasnow and Mrs. Lillian Tarver were watching the proceedings with interest... so the shutterbug invited them outside for a pose, which they obliged.

in passing legislation providing $10,000 in insurance for each person in Military Service.

Through the years I have appeared personally on every appeal from our District trying to help veterans, as well as everyone else, in every way possible.

Since last year I also have been on the House Public Works Committee which handles legislation relating to TVA, flood control, public buildings and grounds, and highways. I am a member of the Subcommittee on Flood Control which is assigned matters dealing with TVA and flood control projects.

I have done my best for the Eighth Congressional District. I am sure you know of some of the projects we have succeeded in getting approved.

In announcing my candidacy for reelection in the Democratic Primary of August 4, I assure you that if I am renominated and reelected in November, I will continue to work for the best interests of our District in every way humanly possible.

hours. Even at that I was home in time for the evening meal with the family.

Saturday I flew to Louisville for a meeting of the executive board of the Partners for the Alliance scheduled for ten A. M. Louisville time (one hour ahead of us.) I left here at seven a. m., arrived in Louisville at nine-thirty (Louisville time) and got to the meeting ahead of the folks who lived in Louisville and the surrounding area.

I went into the business district, transacted some Festival business, and was out at the airport in time to "hitch-ly" back to Fulton with a friend from Murray, arriving here in time for the evening meal. I was even lucky enough to hitch-ride from the airport home with Dub Burnette, who had just flown in from a trip to St. Louis, where he had transacted a full day's business without missing either the morning or the evening meal.

What a whirl!

Getting Better!

It's good news to hear that Ruth Williams is getting along comfortably following injuries she received in an automobile accident near Lynnville Monday morning. Ruth, and Ima Osborne, who was traveling with Ruth are both confined to the Fulton Hospital.

I'm going to find time to go by and see the injured ladies as soon as the paper goes to press, but meanwhile I hope that they continue to improve rapidly. Ruth has a bad arm injury and Ima had some facial lacerations. "It's a speedy recovery we wish both of them."

Psychologist!

R. Paul is taking some brush-up courses at UTMB in Martin this summer and one of them is psychology. Tuesday night he was studying for a test he was to have on Wednesday and came in my room, sat on the bed and told me that he wanted to use me as a experiment for an analysis.

Well, as psychologists are prone to do he started with some of my thoughts and ideals of my youth and proceeded onto the present day of my life.

I must say he asked some probing questions, which I answered as best I could, but I could see he was getting more puzzled all the time. I think when he realized that hard-work, attention to duty, and personal sacrifices will get you something, he took a different view of his course.

On Wednesday when I asked how he did on the test he replied that he passed it in a breeze. Said he: "Citing the examples of yours and Daddy's hard work made the test a snap. I just don't want to work that hard myself."

Bi-Partisan Effort To Push New Constitution

The non-partisan distinction of the proposed new Kentucky Constitution has been further highlighted by the appointment of two outstanding co-chairmen to direct the campaign for its adoption in the Nov. 8 general election.

The selection of Republican John Fred Williams, Ashland, and Democrat C. Gibson Downing, Lexington, for these posts is but a continuation of what has been a bi-partisan effort since creation of the Constitution Revision Assembly in 1964.

Downing is an attorney serving his first term in the State Senate. Williams, a vice president of the Ashland Oil & Refining Company, is a former State Superintendent of Public Instruction. A statewide network of county organizations is planned.

FESTIVAL PRESIDENT

Latin-American diplomats face-to-face about our program will mesh more than we can ever evaluate for the Festival programs in the future.

"My ability to attend the conference depends upon the status of the Festival's program in mid-September. If all committees are functioning at top-speed, as I know they will be, and the affairs of the Festival appear to be in order, I think I will be able to attend, at least, the meeting in Rio de Janeiro.

"In addition, the program that the Festival must present at the Southern Governors' conference when it meets at Kentucky Dam Village, beginning on September 17, may also interfere with the South American trip. But then if local people respond to our call for help, we can arrange that program without any difficulty and I may be able to get away.

"However, if the Festival organization needs me at the time of the conference, I shall certainly remain here and fulfill my duties. An alternate delegate has been named to attend in the event I cannot go," she said.

The delegates will attend the conference under the sponsorship of the United States Department.

Judge Tipton Extends Graves Circuit Court

The June 1966 term of the Graves Circuit Court will be extended until the second Monday in November in 1966, according to Judge W. C. Tipton. This is the first time in history that this court has been extended for this long a period.

The judge extended the term on the basis of a section of the Kentucky Revised Statutes which was passed in 1962 allowing such an act.

Judge Tipton stated that in the assignment for lawsuits on trial, preference shall be given to the circuit court in any other county in this district which is in regular term or session. The petit jury for the Graves Circuit Court may be reconvened at any time during the term or the extension of the term, Tipton added.

The reason for the extension is because the court considers that it may have the opportunity to try some highway condemnation cases in the Graves Circuit Court when there is nothing pending for trial in one of the other counties in the district (Ballard, Carlisle, Hickman, or Fulton).

"The court desires to give the landowners who have condemnation cases pending against them every opportunity for a jury trial. This has been caused by there being 70 such cases filed growing out of the new West Kentucky Parkway highway," the judge said.

A copy of the order to extend the term will be forwarded by the clerk to the Department of Finance, the Court of Appeals and the Administrative Director of the Court of Appeals.

Second Ky. Group Of Hospitals For Medicare Approved

FRANKFORT — Another group of Kentucky hospitals has been approved by the Health Education and Welfare Department at Washington for participation in the new federal medicare program.

The state Health Department today said the new list includes: Benton Municipal, Flagg Memorial at Bardonia, Mary Immaculate at Lebanon, Grant County Hospital, Our Lady of Mercy at Morganfield, Pineville Community Hospital, Middlesboro Appalachian Regional, Hayswood Hospital Inc. at Maysville, St. Clair at Morehead, Murray-Calloway County, McDowell Appalachian Regional, Hazard Appalachian Regional, James B. Haggin Memorial at Harrodsburg, Garrard County Memorial, Jewish Hospital Association at Louisville, St. Elizabeth at Covington, St. Mary and Elizabeth at Louisville, Our Lady of Belafonte at Ashland, Adair Memorial Hospital in Adair County, Trigg County Hospital.

Ron Johnson's Notebook:

Prospective Nunn-Cook Fight Pleasant Turn For Democrats

The Democrats are about to run out of corners and the Republicans are apparently squaring off for a little infighting of their own in training for the preliminary bouts in May, prior to the gubernatorial battle in November, 1967.

New developments continue to break in the gubernatorial picture, even though most announced and potential candidates claim they are going to wait until after the November congressional races to really begin sparring.

Two-time Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler has formerly announced his candidacy, joining State Sen. J. D. (Jiggs) Buckman as the only announced Democratic contenders for the title thus far.

Over in another camp, Jefferson County Judge Marlow Cook and former Warren County Judge Louis Nunn, who came closer in 1963 than any GOP candidate has in some time, gave every indication of being ready to square off in the Republican elimination bout.

That is no doubt a pleasant development for Democrats, themselves perennially torn between two or more camps in preliminary bouts. Seldom do Kentucky Republicans come up with two candidates who are strong enough to seriously challenge each other.

Meanwhile, in another Democratic camp, Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, a challenger who has never quite made it to the title bout for the "big one," continues his meetings with political cronies from around the state.

Waterfield is apparently feeling around to see if he can come up with an issue on which to run—presumably the 100 per cent assessment of property for taxation ordered by the state court of appeals and supported by the administration.

There is an interesting note from the last meeting Waterfield hosted. The Tuesday meeting was attended by Marshall Circuit Judge Earl Osborne, who recently defeated Court of Appeals Judge Brady Stewart in the Democratic primary for the appellate judgeship by hitting hard on the tax issue, as well as Stewart's age.

Osborne was there to talk about his campaign on the tax issue, it has been reported.

This raises another good question.

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt strongly supported Stewart in the primary, but, after Stewart was defeated, said he would support Osborne in the general election this fall, although Stewart's name will appear on the ballot—as a Republican.

Waterfield supported Osborne in the primary and also will support him in the general election. It was also reliably reported that Earl C. Clements' hand was in Osborne's campaign.

Waterfield had said before and repeated last week that Osborne's campaign attacking the Court of Appeals 100 per cent assessment ruling defines the issue for the next governor's race.

Are Waterfield, Clements and Osborne aligned, as it appears they are? If they are, where does that leave the administration? Will it continue to back Osborne this fall? Probably so, but also probably much less than ardently.

In making his announcement, Chandler said he hoped his primary foe would be former Gov. Bert Combs, an arch political foe, stating his decision would be "more definitely certain" if he was sure Combs would run against him.

In the process, Chandler apparently discounted Buckman as a candidate, ignoring the senator's announcement by stating he didn't know who might run against him in the primary.

Combs refused comment on Chandler's statement, saying he "quit arguing with Happy Chandler years ago."

However, reliable sources report that "any anti-Chandler forces couldn't be happier to have Chandler himself run from his own camp," apparently sure he would not be hard to beat.

Chandler says he has had "no contact" with Waterfield, his running mate in other gubernatorial elections.

Combs continues to say nothing and many count him out as the administration candidate. On the other hand, the administration has announced support for no candidate and says it won't until after November elections.

Strong feeling by many observers points to Attorney General Robert Matthews as the administration's choice, if Combs does not run.

Quietly biding his time is one other potential candidate who is a confessed serious candidate for the office if Combs doesn't run.

Every indication is that Highway Commissioner Henry Ward is not a first choice of the administration and would be a reluctant choice even if the administration is somehow "forced" to go with him.

It is reliably reported they "fear his independence."

Many Ward backers feel however that Ward should run without administration support if need be, and some even go so far as to say it might be more of a help than a hindrance to not have administration support.

Just what he intends to do, he is keeping to himself, which may be advisable at this time.

As in any wide-open fight such as the one shaping up there is the inevitable "gang-ing up" or joining of forces along the way.

It is almost a certainty that such pooling of forces will come about in the upcoming governor's race but just what combination of teams will evolve is not readily foreseeable.

Suppose Waterfield declares himself in the race for the top post, then Combs decides not to run and the administration announces support of Matthews with Ward running independent of administration support. Quite a mess, with Buckman and Chandler already in the race, right?

But, where would any "partnerships" come?

Waterfield has run in the second spot too many times to consider doing it again. Chandler definitely would not accept a second spot.

Ward, who insists on staying independent of any binding ties which he feels might keep him from doing his best—a trait which has become a prime reason for his attractiveness to voters under current circumstances—has previously turned down a second spot and would probably do it again.

He also probably would demand a man of his own choosing or at least one agreeable to him in the second spot on his ticket.

That leaves Matthews and Buckman, which is a possibility, though not a probability. This would not thin the field much, however.

Democrats fear things could get really bloody in party infighting during the months to come but there may be one consolation in the battle for the big prize.

Republicans may also get a little bloodied in their preliminary sparring—for the first time in some time.

Moderate Cook and his urban Republican forces have crossed swords with conservative Nunn before—in the 1963 gubernatorial election, as a matter of fact.

But it could get a lot worse this time. Cook apparently has already served notice to Nunn that he would not accept a second spot, which Nunn is said to desire to head off any intra-party battle when he seeks the top spot.

Neither man has made an announcement but their intentions are clear. It could shape up as a battle between urban GOP members and rural GOP adherents.

Both primaries may be as interesting as the general election this time.

Bank President Kerr Retiring

James White Takes Helm

At a regular meeting of the board of directors of the Old & Third National Bank Tuesday afternoon, announcement was made that J. Walker Kerr, president of the institution for almost 36 years, was retiring from active service as president. He will, however, continue to serve the bank as chairman of the board.

Mr. Kerr has been associated with the banking institution since June 1, 1916, slightly more than 50 years ago, and has become one of the most highly respected citizens and one of the top bankers in the State of Tennessee.

Mr. Kerr has been in failing health since the spring of 1965 and has been a patient at Obion County General Hospital since last Feb. 27, when he suffered a stroke.

Directors, after accepting the retirement of Mr. Kerr, elected James W. White, who has been serving as executive vice president, as president of the bank, succeeding Mr. Kerr.

Mr. White has been associated with the bank since 1962.

Driver Limitation Program Urged

FRANKFORT — Public Safety Department officials said today the first two years of the driver limitation program show that many motorists are high risks because of physical, mental or emotional ailments.

"It has been made apparent that it is necessary to remove certain drivers from the road for their own safety as well as that of others," the report said.

The survey indicated the program is not expensive, but takes a good deal of time and requires cooperation of state agencies and private doctors.

"The driver limitation program should be a major component of Kentucky's traffic safety program," the report said.

Under the system, state Police may lift the license of any person when there is reason to believe he has certain infirmities that make his driving unsafe.

Since the program began in May, 1964, about 1,150 licensed drivers have been reviewed; nearly 10 per cent had conditions which could interfere with their driving ability.

Almost half could operate an automobile or truck without remedial action.

The balance of 40 per cent included:

—Six drivers who surrendered their licenses voluntarily; five who died after they were referred to the program and four whose licenses were suspended for mental incompetency.

—222 whose licenses were suspended for reasons other than physical or mental conditions.

—55 who had to take a complete driver license examination, of which 23 failed and had their licenses suspended.

—87 whose permits were returned with specific restrictions on driving, for example, during daylight, at certain speeds or on particular roads.

Pryor Wins Benton Open

By GENE BAKER
Sun-Democrat Staff Writer

BENTON, Ky., — Give Jim Pryor an inch and he'll take a mile. Don't give him an inch and he'll make you wish you had.

The Benton Golf and Country Club course wouldn't surrender a thing to the Mayfield sharp-shooter Sunday . . . so Pryor took what he wanted.

The result: championship of the Benton Open Golf Tournament.

With bogies on four of his first nine holes washing out a pair of sensational eagles and a birdie, the burly amateur king settled down to business in the final go 'round and coasted to a four-stroke victory over first round leader rookie Bill Douglas of Paducah and Pat Nanney of Fulton.

Nanney, who came home with a 69 on Saturday and stayed in the thick of the race to the wire, was one over . . . both rounds Sunday. He was never able to gain the momentum that was there the day before. His card showed only two birdies with four bogies.

After Douglas and Nanney skied in their final efforts, it appeared that the pair may be left in third place. Dave Barclay of Mayfield was still out and very much in contention for the runner-up spot.

He missed it one shot, though, as he came in with 74 to go with his first round 70.

Mayfield's Freddie Lancaster, winner of the Hopkinsville Invitational recently, was fifth at 145.

With back-to-back eagles on Nos. 4-5, both par-5 holes, Pryor overcame an earlier bogey and pulled to within one shot of the youthful star from Paducah. When Douglas settled for a par-4 on No. 6, Pryor made up the shot with a birdie and the army of followers were amazed and confident that the reigning Irvin Cobb champion was on his way to win the tournament title by four strokes over Nanney and Douglas who met in a sudden death for second place. Douglas was declared runner-up after beating Nanney on the first hole.

TPA Elects Critchlow

David G. Critchlow, secretary-treasurer of The Daily Messenger, Inc., and a member of The Messenger staff, Saturday was elected a member of the Tennessee Press Assn. board of directors, representing the Eighth District.

The election took place in Memphis as the TPA ended its annual three-day convention. Jack McFarland of the Daily News Journal of Murfreesboro was elected TPA president.

Bill Simonton of the Covington Leader was chosen West Tennessee vice president and Don McKay of the Oak Ridger was elected vice president from East Tennessee. Franklin Yates of the Shelby Times-Gazette was elected treasurer and Glen McNeil of Knoxville remains as secretary-manager.

Once again The Messenger placed high in the state in the annual competition sponsored by the TPA and the University of Tennessee. Although Union City is the smallest city in Tennessee to have a daily newspaper, The Messenger has consistently ranked high in the yearly contests.

A feature story written by Mrs. Betty Cardwell took top honors in the Best Single Feature contest category. The Messenger also was presented Certificates of Merit for ranking fourth in Local Features, fifth in Local Pictures, fifth in Make-up and Appearance and sixth for the Best Single Editorial.

The contest categories each year place The Messenger in competition with much larger newspapers published in cities with as many as 35,000 residents.

IN MEMORIAM—Mrs. Paul J. Wiley is presented a gold chalice and patent in memory of her late husband, Paul J. Wiley, by Ted Bonczar, Faithful Navigator of the Knights of Columbus, Jackson Assembly. Dr. William L. LaFont (left), Tennessee State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus, and Eugene Ellegood, Worthy Grand Knight of the local council, assist in the presentation.

KC's Honor Paul J. Wiley

A gold chalice and patent were presented Sunday to Mrs. Paul J. Wiley by the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of the Father Charles C. Reid Assembly of Jackson in memory of her husband, the late Paul J. Wiley.

The chalice, engraved with the name of the deceased, was presented to Mrs. Wiley by Ted Bonczar, Faithful Navigator of the Jackson Assembly, at a luncheon at the Blitmore restaurant following the 11 o'clock services at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church. This is the highest posthumous tribute the organization can pay to a deceased Fourth Degree Knight. Mr. Wiley was the second Knight in West Tennessee to have a chalice presented.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE

by
Wendell P. Butler
Commissioner
Ky. Dept. of Agriculture

With this being Dairy Month in Kentucky, much attention is being focused upon this industry. Milk and dairy products make up a major part of our food supply, and this factor is deserving of consideration. But beyond this is what our dairy industry means in terms of economic contributions.

Dairying can be considered as our second major source of farm income. Of course, I realize that it is a close second with beef cattle, but when the cow-calf operations, which in most cases are dairy stock, are added in, dairying falls second to tobacco in cash income. However, the thing with which we should be most concerned is not the rank as to second or third, but the actual economic value of the total industry.

Records of the Division of Livestock Sanitation show that there are more than 25,000 commercial dairy herds in Kentucky. The total figure changes from time to time in that some farmers are occasional shippers. Of this group, 3,532 are Grade A producers, with the others being Grade C producers.

Charles Ross, statistician with the Department, points out that Kentucky's dairy cows produced 2,633 million pounds of milk in 1965. This amount was produced by 431,000 cows, for an average of 6,110 pounds per cow. Average production per cow was five percent above the 1964 figure.

Kentucky dairymen have been making commendable progress in better production per cow in recent years. However, there is still much room for improvement. For instance, California dairymen are getting 10,840 pounds per cow. The national average is 8,080 pounds per cow. So we can see just what it would mean to our dairymen if they would move their per-cow average up to the national average.

Dairymen throughout the state have been making strides in herd quality improvement. A greater number of high-producing animals will raise the per-cow average. On top of this is the fact that Kentucky's grassland and climate are well suited for dairying. Dairy farms in some of the former "dairy states" are on the decline which means that Kentucky will be able to supply more of the demand for milk and dairy products in the years ahead.

On the manufacturing side, Kentucky ranks second to Ohio in the nation for the production of evaporated milk. We rank fifth in the production of American cheese. Nationwide, Kentucky ranks thirteenth in production of milk.

This is June Dairy Month, a time to salute our dairy industry.

Cloys Elected Vice President Of State Bar

Union City attorney George C. Cloys Saturday was elected West Tennessee vice president of the Tennessee Bar Assn., at the association's annual convention held this year in Chattanooga.

Mr. Cloys has just completed a three-year term as a member of the state group's board of governors, representing the Eighth District.

As vice president for West Tennessee, Mr. Cloys will have the responsibility of planning and organizing the annual West Tennessee mid-winter meeting, usually held in February. Although the winter meeting is usually held in Jackson, with Mr.

GEORGE C. CLOYS

Cloys in charge the possibility exists it may be held in Union City.

James Manire of Memphis became president for the 1966-67 association year at the Chattanooga meeting. C. Griffin Boyte of Humboldt was elected to the board of governors to succeed Mr. Cloys.

Doctor in the Kitchen

by W.W. Bauer, M.D.
Consultant, National Dairy Council

YOUR NOSE IN THE KITCHEN

The women of my mother's generation used to tell their husbands to stay out of the kitchen, warning them that sticking their noses into the utensils to see what was cooking, was an infringement on the prerogatives of the gentler sex.

What good is anybody's nose in the kitchen?

"Aha," I hear you saying, "to smell things burning, of course!" That's one use, obviously, but there are others.

Where We Taste

The nose is not commonly recognized as one of the principal organs of discriminating taste. This function is usually attributed to the palate, as indicated in the use of the phrase "tickling the palate," or the adjective "palatable." Actually, the palate has no taste buds. These are on the tongue. They register four kinds of taste—sweet, sour (acid), bitter and salt, and sometimes alkaline and metallic. The tip of the tongue is more sensitive to sweet tastes, the margins to sour and salt, and the back to bitter. However, since dissolved substances quickly spread to other areas, these sense areas are not sharply defined; they have been determined by electrical stimulation.

Odor Helps Taste

Most familiar tastes are influenced as much or more by the odor of the substance as by its taste as recognized on the tongue. When one has a cold, the sense of smell lessens, and with it the savor of food. "It all tastes like straw," one hears people say when they have a cold.

The nose in the kitchen, or elsewhere in the home, is a very useful organ. It gives us the anticipation of a tasty meal as we enter our homes after a hard day at work; but let that same detectable odor become too strong, or stay around too long, and it grows stale and offensive, and we hasten to provide fresh air and ventilation.

The Nose Knows

A good sensitive nose stands the cook in good stead in flavoring her cooking. If it smells good, it probably tastes good. Conversely, if something in the refrigerator is beginning to grow too old, a sensitive nose detects it, and the offending substance can be removed, the refrigerator aired and cleaned, and the spoiling of other foods prevented.

Where cooking is done with gas, or where gas heat is used, the odor of gas is a warning that a pilot light may have gone out, or a pot boiled over and killed the burner flame. Unfortunately, the most dangerous gas, carbon monoxide (produced by combustion), has no odor, taste, or "bite," and it is colorless; so that the proper venting of all gas appliances to the outer air becomes essential.

A "runny" nose has no place in the kitchen. Regardless of the care with which handkerchiefs or tissues are used, and the frequency of hand-washing, there is danger of spreading the cold virus on dishes and through uncooked foods which have to be handled, such as salads.

Support Asked For Clinton's Blood Bank

The mobile unit of the regional Red Cross blood bank will be in Clinton, at the American Legion hall on West Clay Street, Monday, June 27, from noon until 6 p. m. 153 pints of blood are needed - 125 pints for the regular time, plus 28 pints short on the last call. If the required quantity is not given, the blanket coverage for the county will be lost until the next visit of the unit in November, when the Clinton Chapter will try to regain it.

Vice President To Dedicate Barkley Dam

PADUCAH - Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will make the dedicatory address Aug. 20 at ceremonies marking the completion of Barkley Dam. The vice president's office today notified dedication chairman Ed Paxton Jr., that Humphrey would be able to make the speech.

The $145 million project will be completed a few weeks ahead of the dedication. The vice president will arrive at Barkley Dam by helicopter from Ft. Campbell at 10:30 a. m. on the day of the dedication. He will leave two hours after to keep a date at Pikeville, marking recognition of the mountain community as an All-American city.

The dedication site will be on the west wall of the navigation lock.

The Corps of Engineers expects a large crowd for the ceremony and is providing parking for 10,000 automobiles. Construction of the project began nine years ago. The latest step was the opening this week

Negro Groups Want To Ban 'Black Sambo'

SEATTLE, Wash.

Two Negro groups wish to ask the Seattle Library Board to take the book, "Little Black Sambo," from its shelves, says Keve Bray, executive director of the Central Area Action Committee.

The book "is derogatory to the Negro and it strongly suggests inferiority to the Negroes," Bray said Monday.

He said his committee and the Washington State Negro Historical Society will make the request.
